Material

MESSMATE

Messmate is an Australian eucalypt distinguished by pale to medium golden tones, with gum veins and organic markings that echo its former life in the forest. A satin clear coat lends a gentle lustre while forming a resilient barrier that preserves the timber's surface through daily use. Robust yet calming, it offers a neutral foundation with character, pairing beautifully with textured stone and earthy fabrics across both traditional and contemporary settings.

MARRI

Marri timber is a distinctive Australian hardwood known for its rich honey tones, striking gum veins, and bold grain patterns. Native to Western Australia, it combines strength with natural beauty, making it a popular choice for furniture that feels both robust and full of character. Each piece of Marri is inherently unique, with organic variations that highlight the timber's raw, expressive nature.
