Our efforts to work with sustainable fabrics

The world's environment is important to us, and we want to do our bit to help. That's why we have introduced a more sustainable range of fabrics.

Nature's fibre – 100% Hemp

Hemp is a natural resource, having been grown for thousands of years providing warmth, protection and comfort. Our Hemp is made in Belgium, and is stone washed to help increase the softness and flexibility of the fabric. Making it ideal for use in upholstery, drapery, and soft furnishings. It is perfectly suited to use for our loose slip cover designs and for ease of use, is machine washable on a warm gentle cycle.

Gentle on the land

Not only is our Hemp sustainable, recyclable and biodegradable – it requires absolutely no chemical sprays at all during its growing cycle. It uses less water to produce than other natural fibres, doesn't require additional irrigation other than that supplied by nature and requires very little energy during harvesting.

The weaving mill where our Hemp is spun and woven are some of the most advanced available in Europe. The mills are constantly investing in new equipment and production methods to reduce the need for energy and water, and are eliminating or recycling most of the waste. The mill also uses natural gas, reducing air pollution as a source of energy.

An environmentally sound alternative, Peroxide is used for all bleaching (100% chloride free) and conforms to strict European E.E.E.C environmental standards.

Extend the life cycle of your loose slip cover product

Our product is built to last. Like all fabrics they wear in over time, you can extend the life of your loose slip cover product by buying a second cover. A second cover is a functional and sustainable choice to enjoy the relaxing and inviting comfort all year round. We recommend going to your local dry cleaners for best results. If you have one of our of loose slip cover designs or if you're after a new one, we can help you on both fronts.
